Product tour: screenshots of the live site

Every screen in this document was captured from the deployed app, not from mock-ups. The demo trader has 60 trading days of trades; the AI pages show real reports generated by Google Gemini through OpenRouter, each checked against the data.

Educational journaling tool. Not investment advice. TradeLens reviews a trader's own trades and habits only.

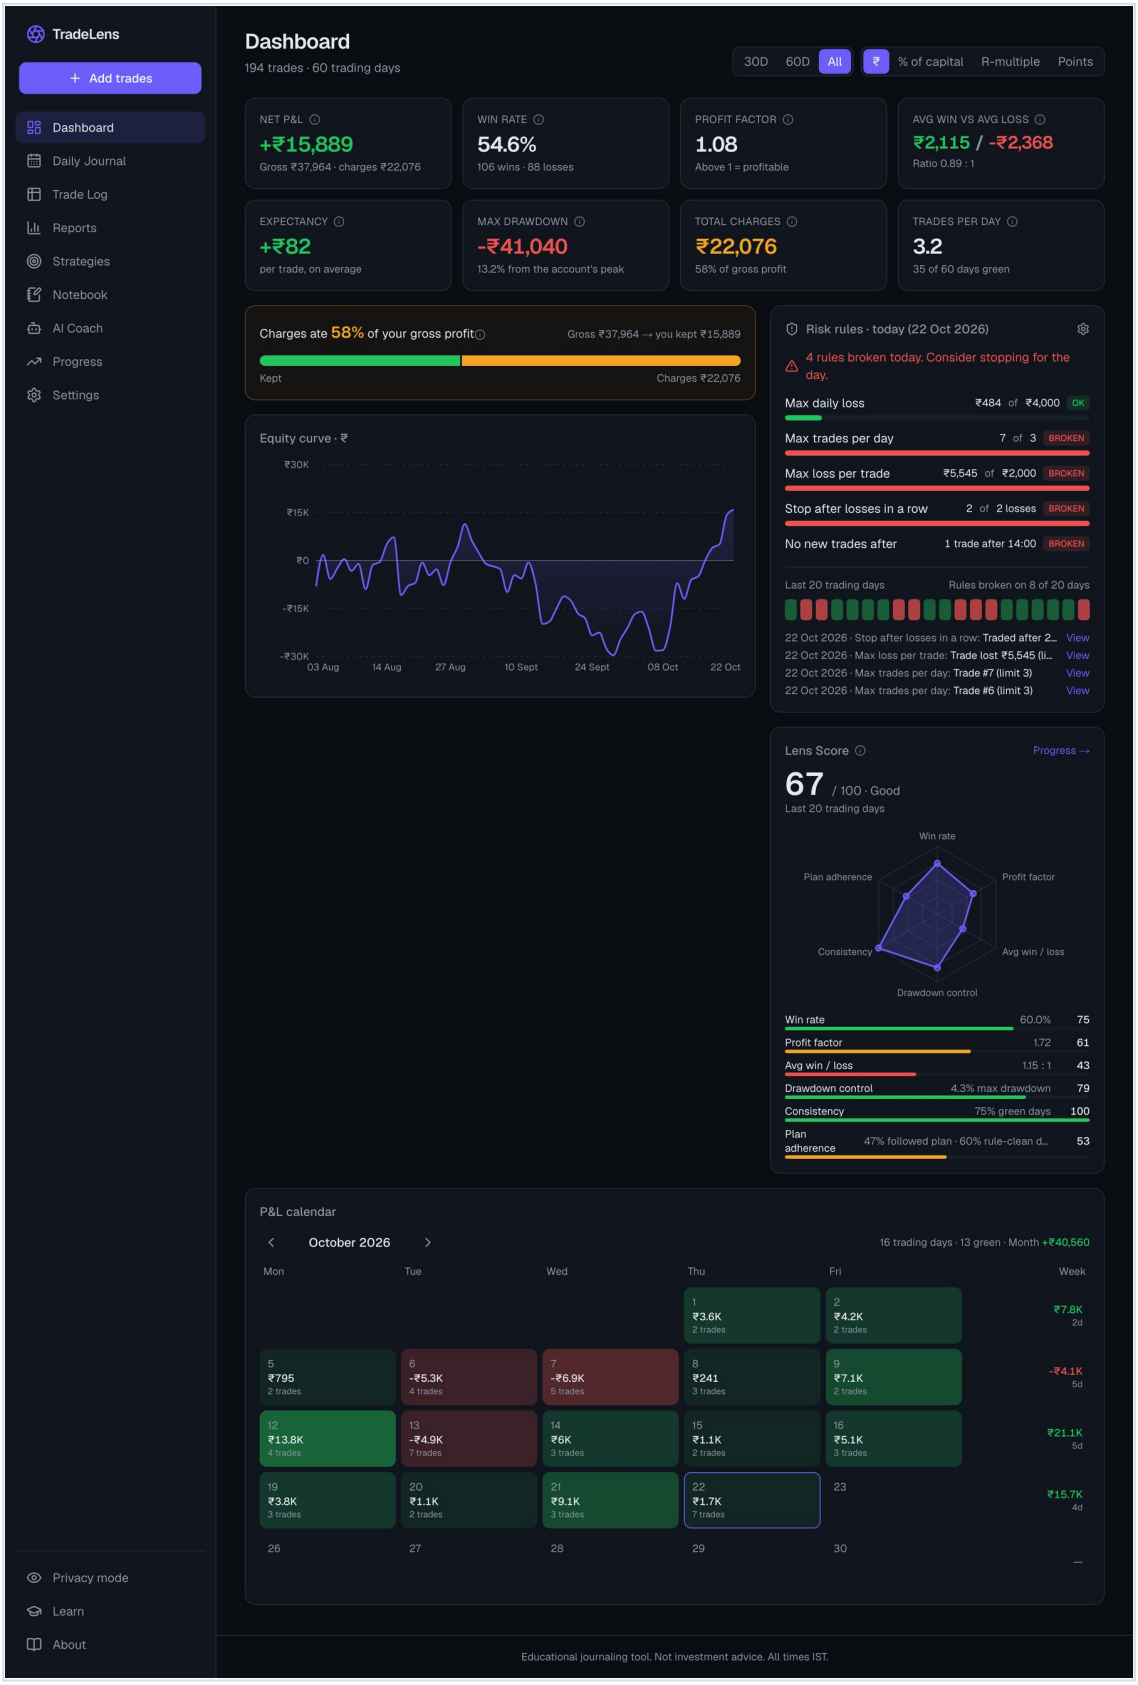

Landing page

The public front door. The hero shows live numbers from the demo journal: how much of gross profit went to charges, how the trader did when following the plan versus breaking it, and the Lens Score. Below: features, the AI coach, INR pricing (Free, Pro ₹299, Elite ₹699, display only) and an FAQ.

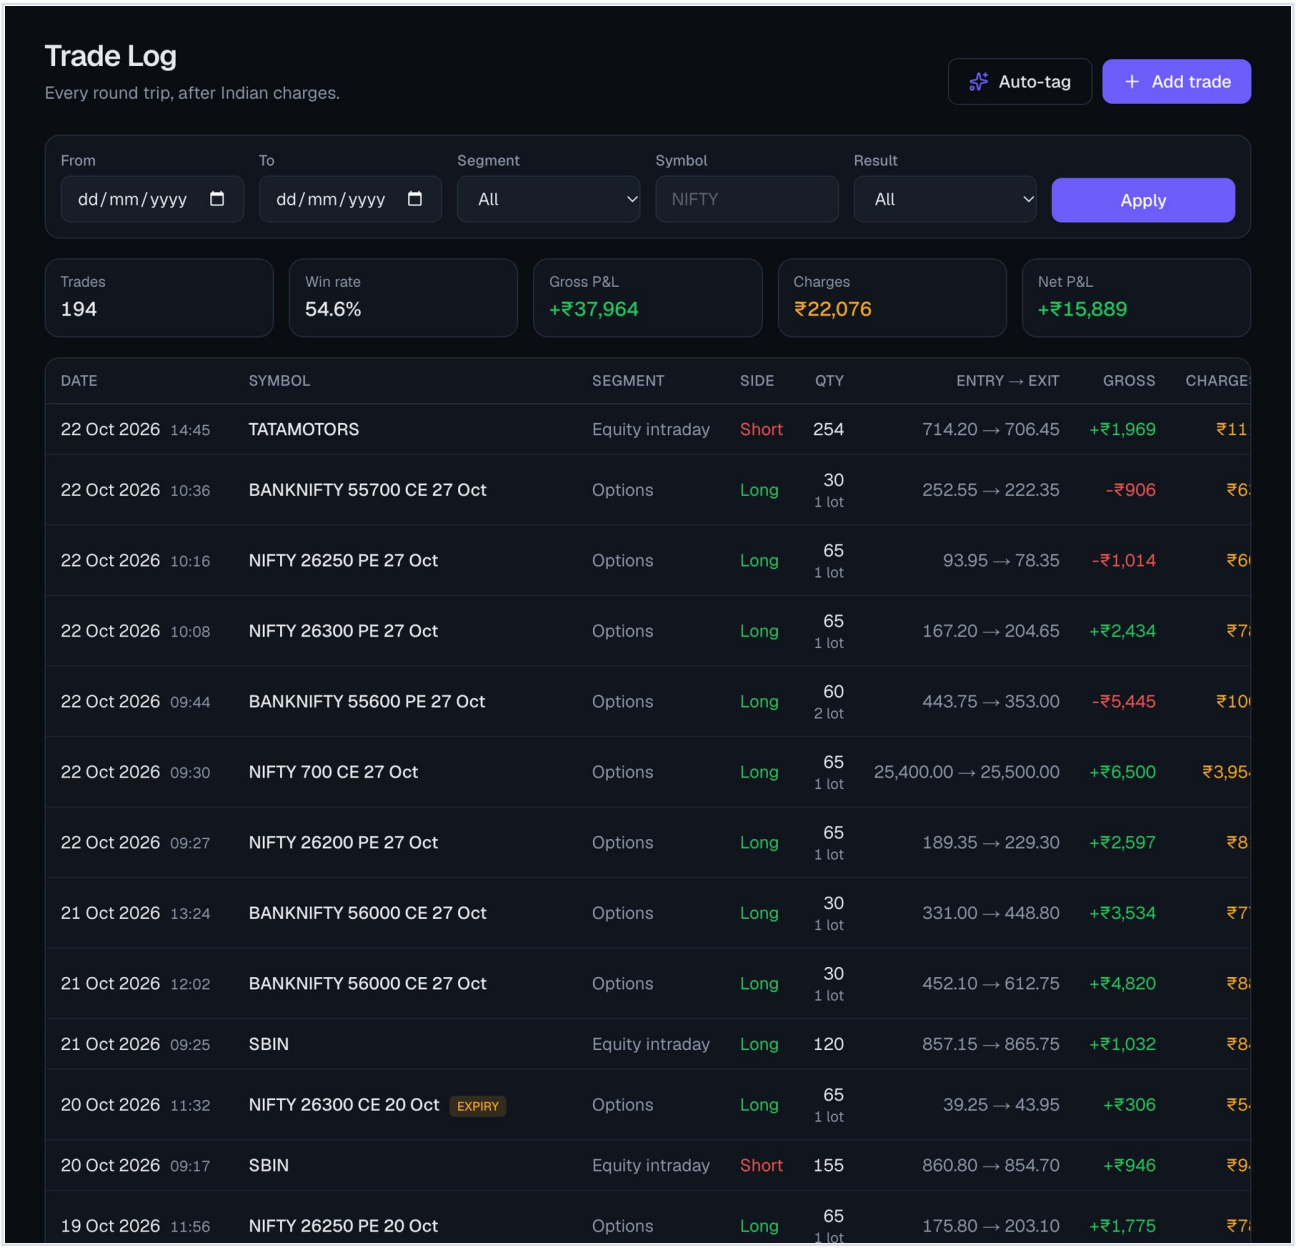

Dashboard

Net P&L, win rate, profit factor, average win vs loss, expectancy, max drawdown and total charges at a glance. Switch the view between ₹, % of capital, R-multiple and points. The charges bar shows what costs took from gross profit; the equity curve, today's risk-rule widget with a 20-day history strip, the Lens Score radar and the P&L calendar follow below.

Trade Log

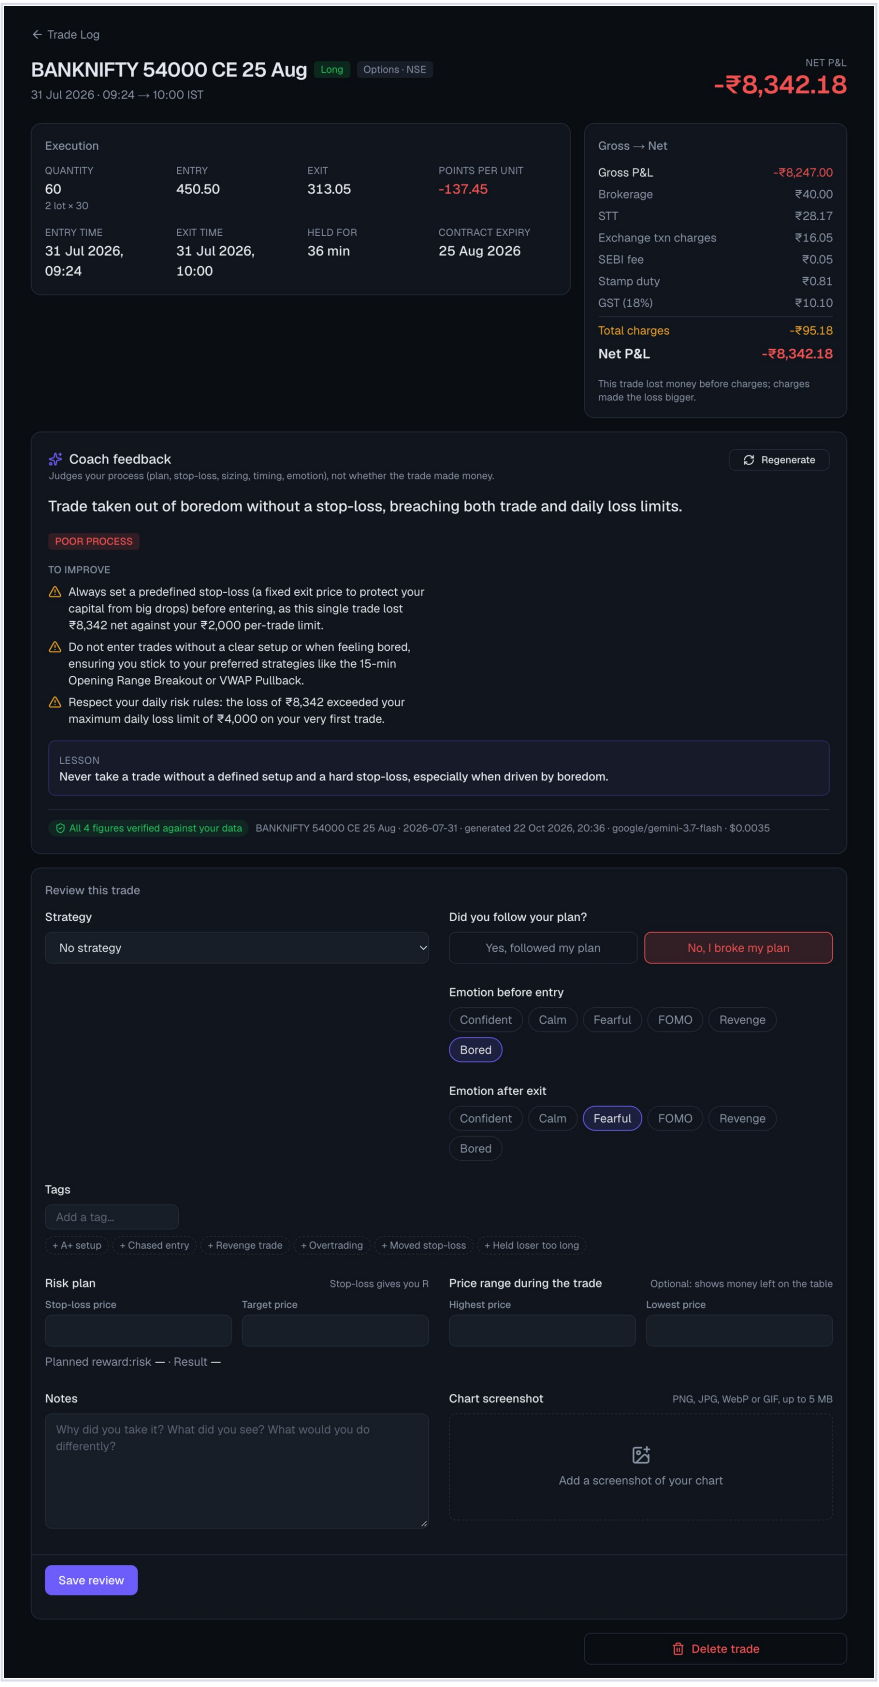

Every trade with strategy, tags, charges and net P&L, newest first. Filter by date range, segment, strategy, tag, plan adherence, time window, emotion and more; search by symbol. The Auto-tag button opens the mistake-finder.

Trade detail and AI coach feedback

Execution, the full gross-to-net charges breakdown (brokerage, STT, exchange charges, SEBI fee, stamp duty, GST) and the AI coach's feedback on process, not outcome, with its figures verified against the data. The review form below captures strategy checklist, emotions, tags, stop-loss and target (R), high/low price and a chart screenshot.

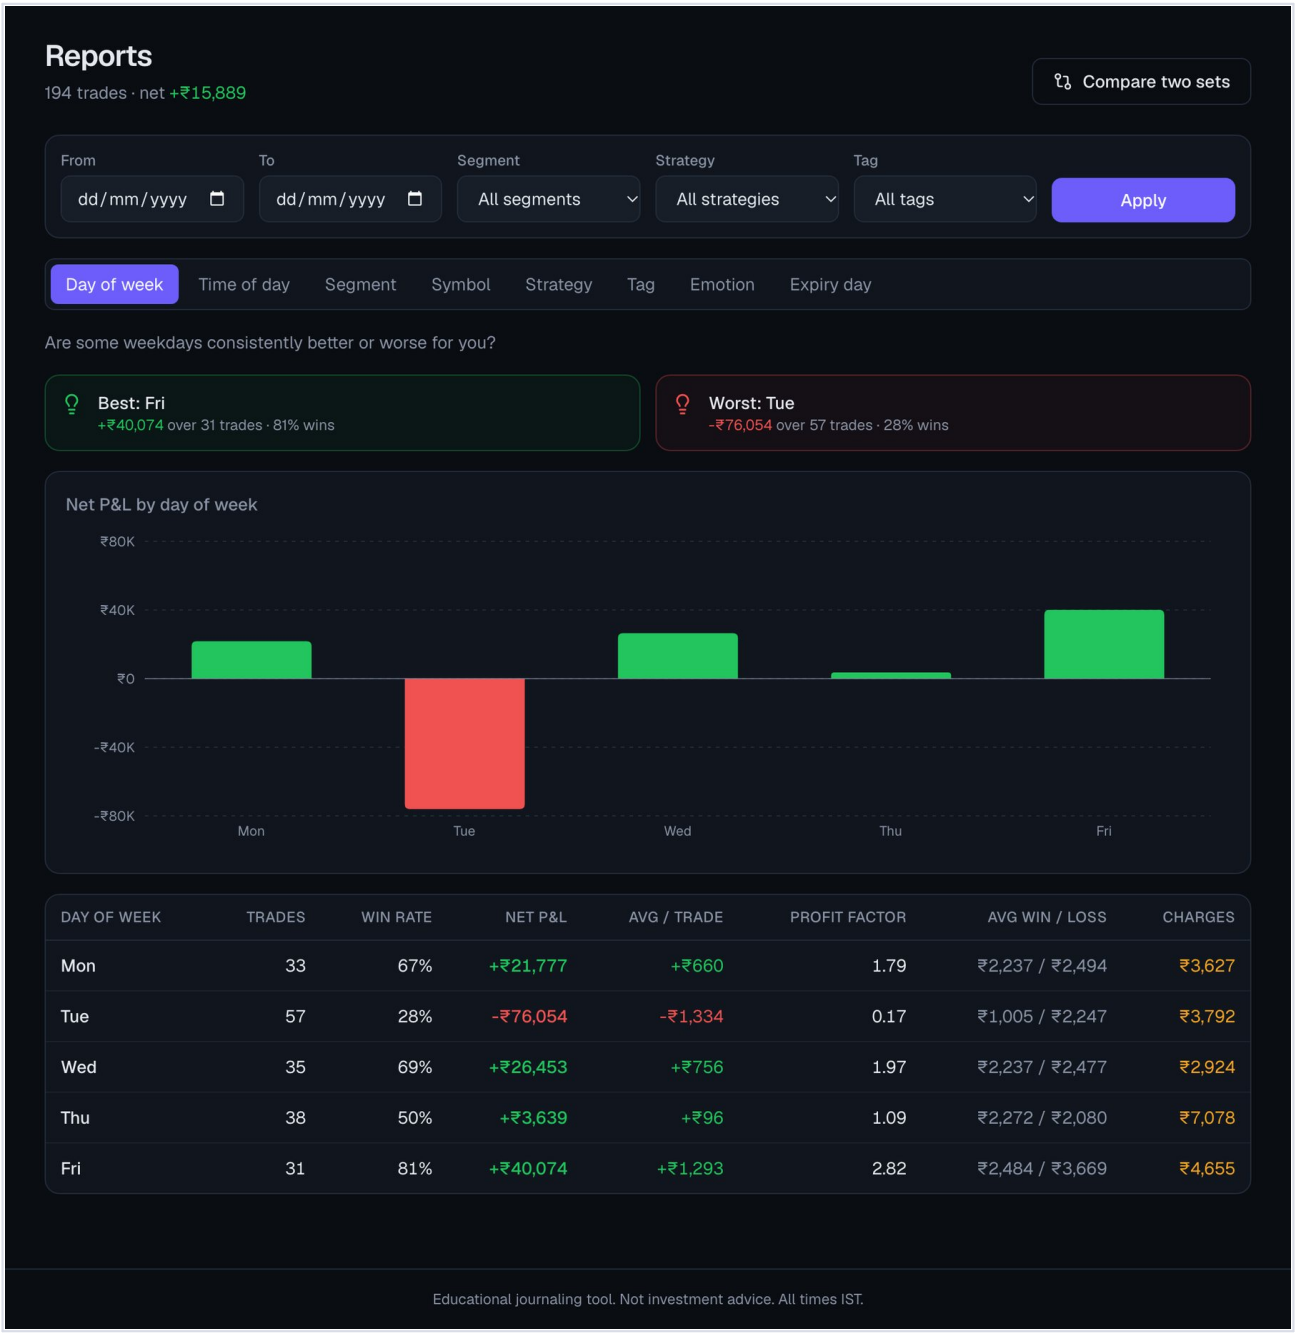

Import

Bring in a Zerodha Console tradebook in one step, or use the other-broker importer (Upstox, Angel One, Groww, Dhan) with a column mapper. Fills are grouped into complete trades, duplicates are skipped, and every import can be undone. Sample files are one click away.

Reports

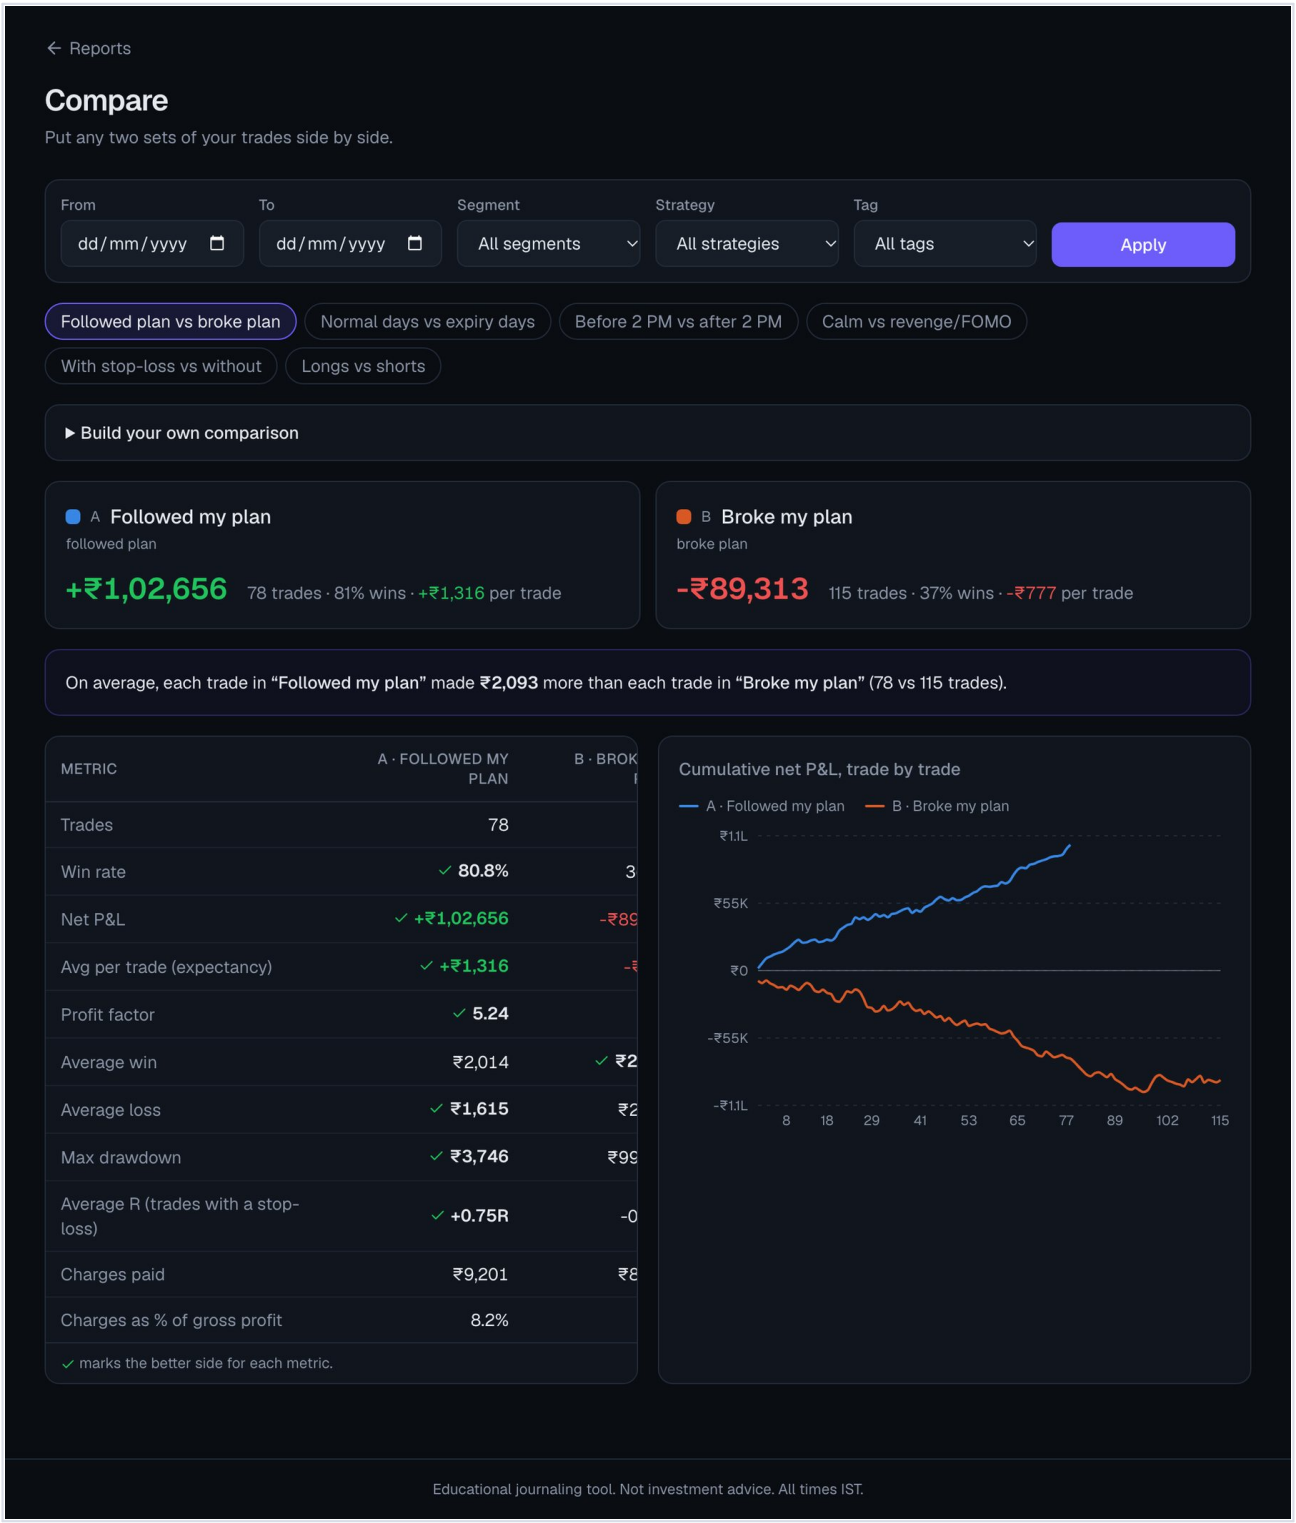

Where does the money come from, and where does it leak? Reports by day of week, time of day, segment, symbol, strategy, tag, emotion and expiry day, all sharing one filter bar.

Compare

Put any two sets of trades side by side, with one-click presets such as "followed plan vs broke plan" or "before vs after 2 PM", and see the difference per trade.

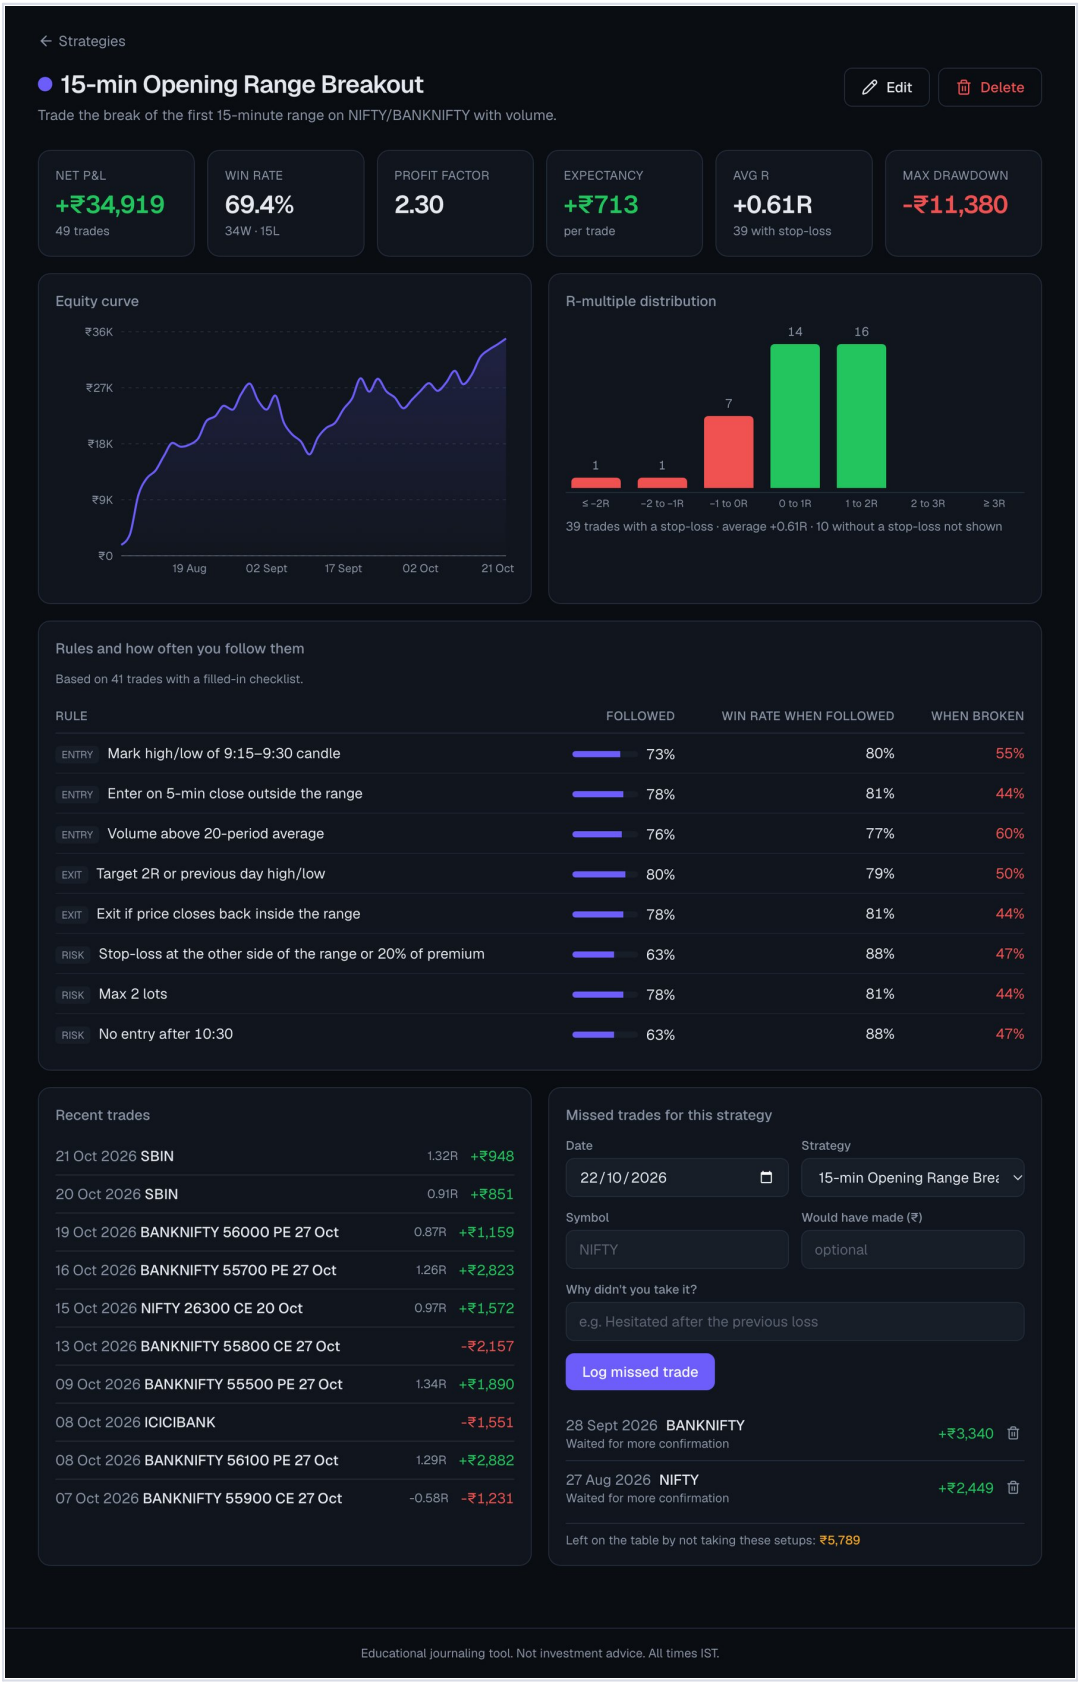

Strategies

Playbooks as entry, exit and risk checklists, each with its own stats, so the trader can see which setups actually pay.

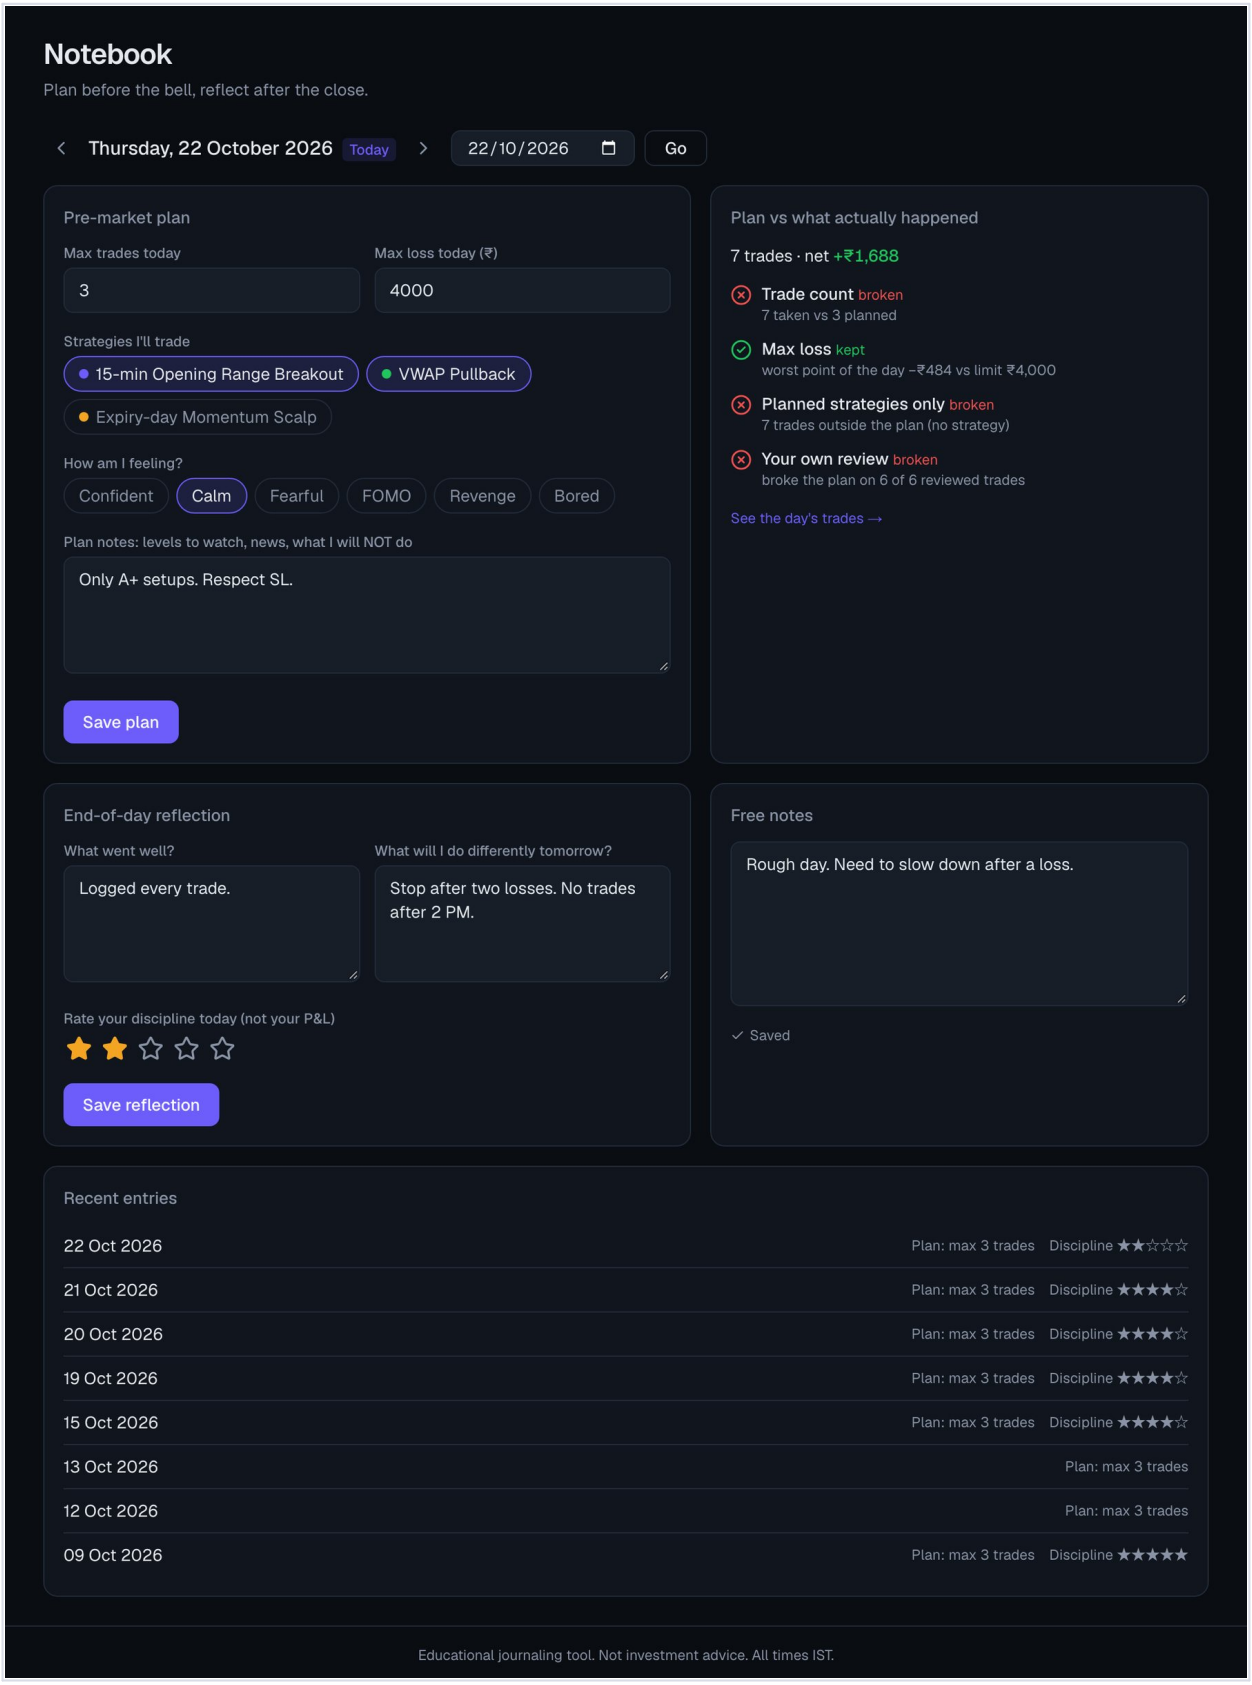

Strategy detail

Per-strategy equity curve and R distribution, how often each rule is followed and the win rate when it is followed versus broken, plus the missed-trades log.

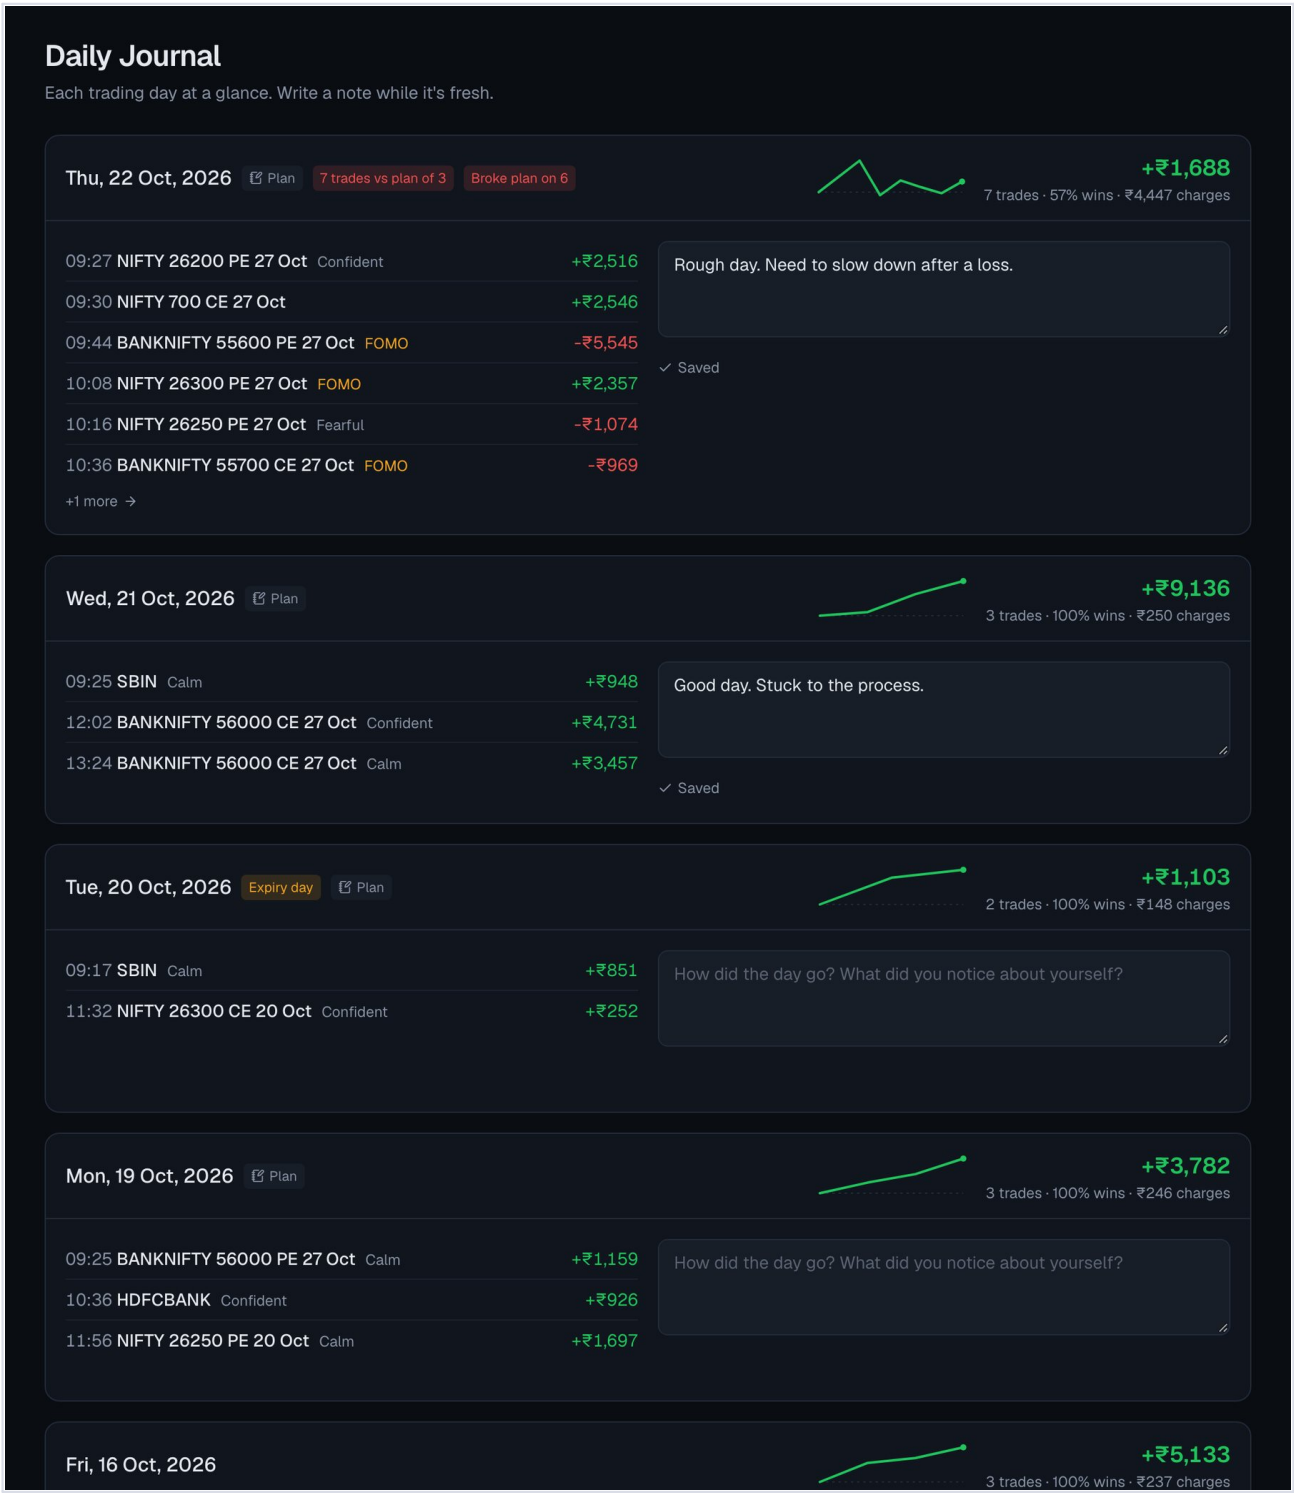

Notebook

A pre-market plan (max trades, max loss, strategies, mood), an automatic plan-versus-actual check computed in code, and an end-of-day reflection with a discipline rating.

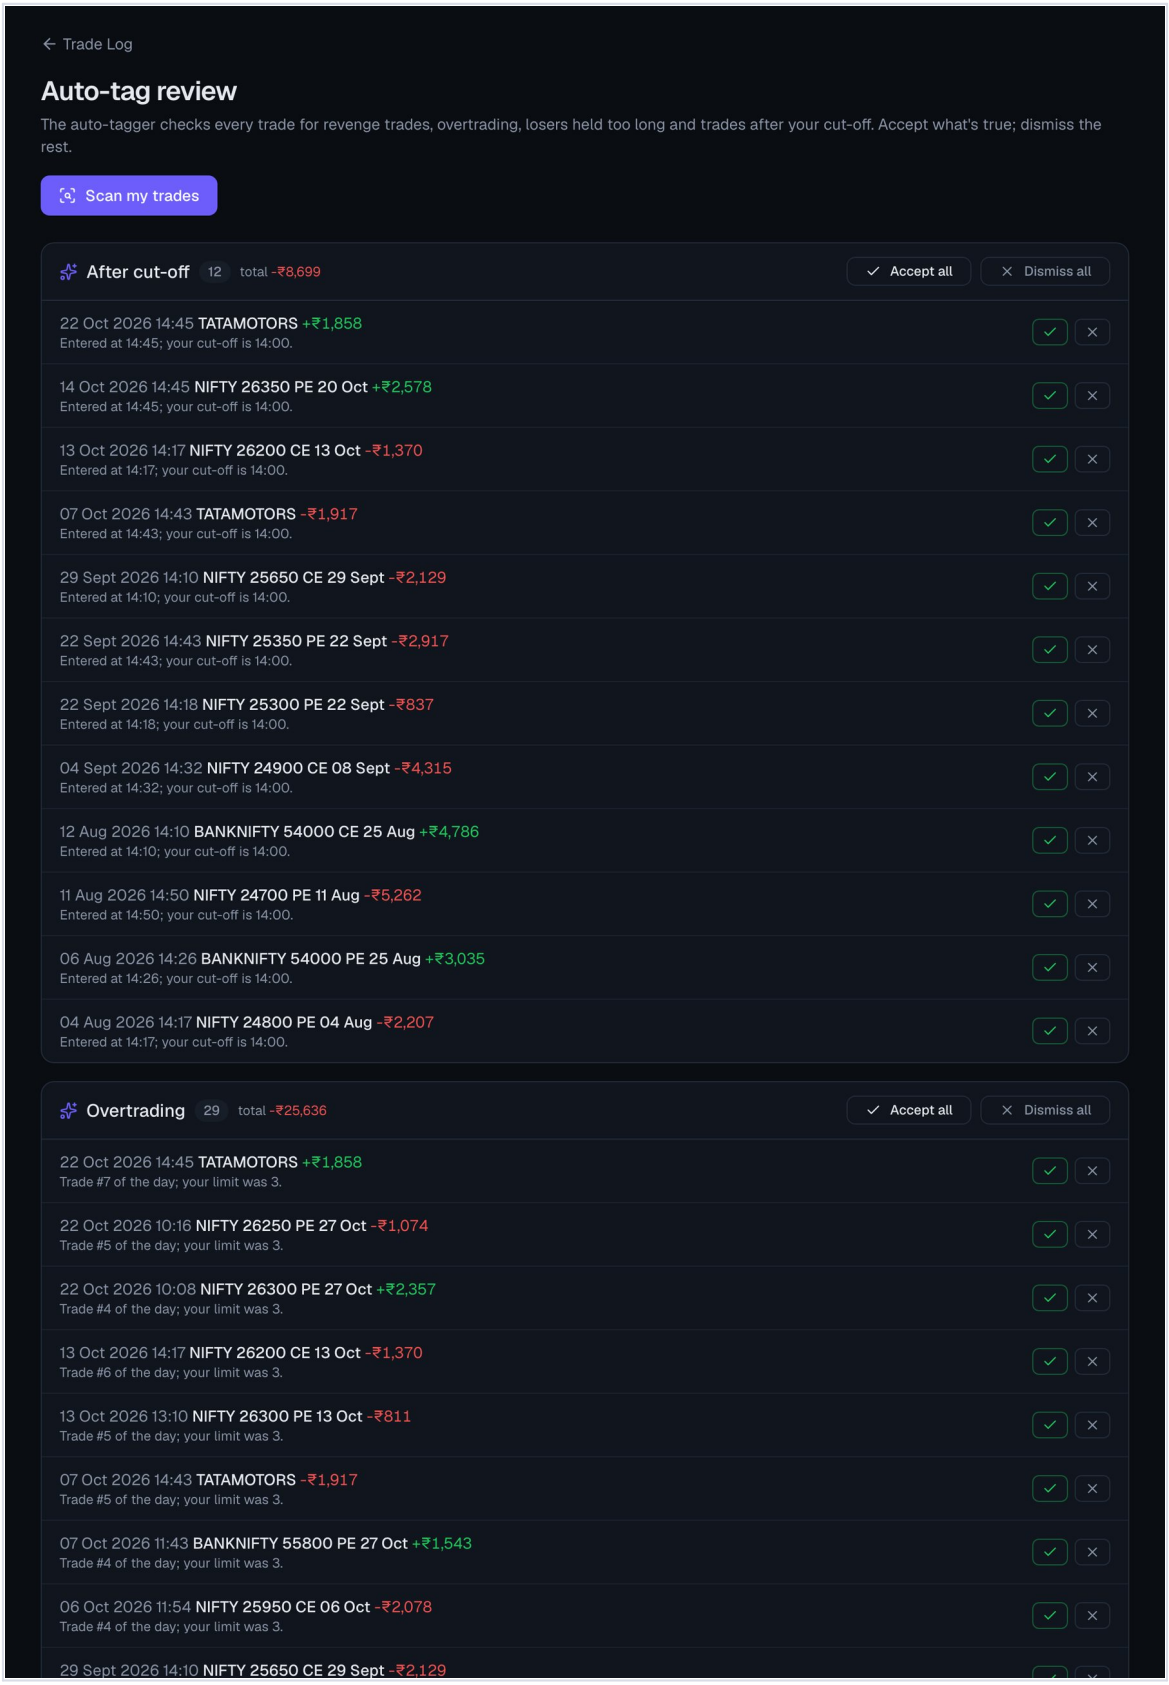

Daily Journal

One card per trading day with its trades, running P&L line, rule breaches and notes.

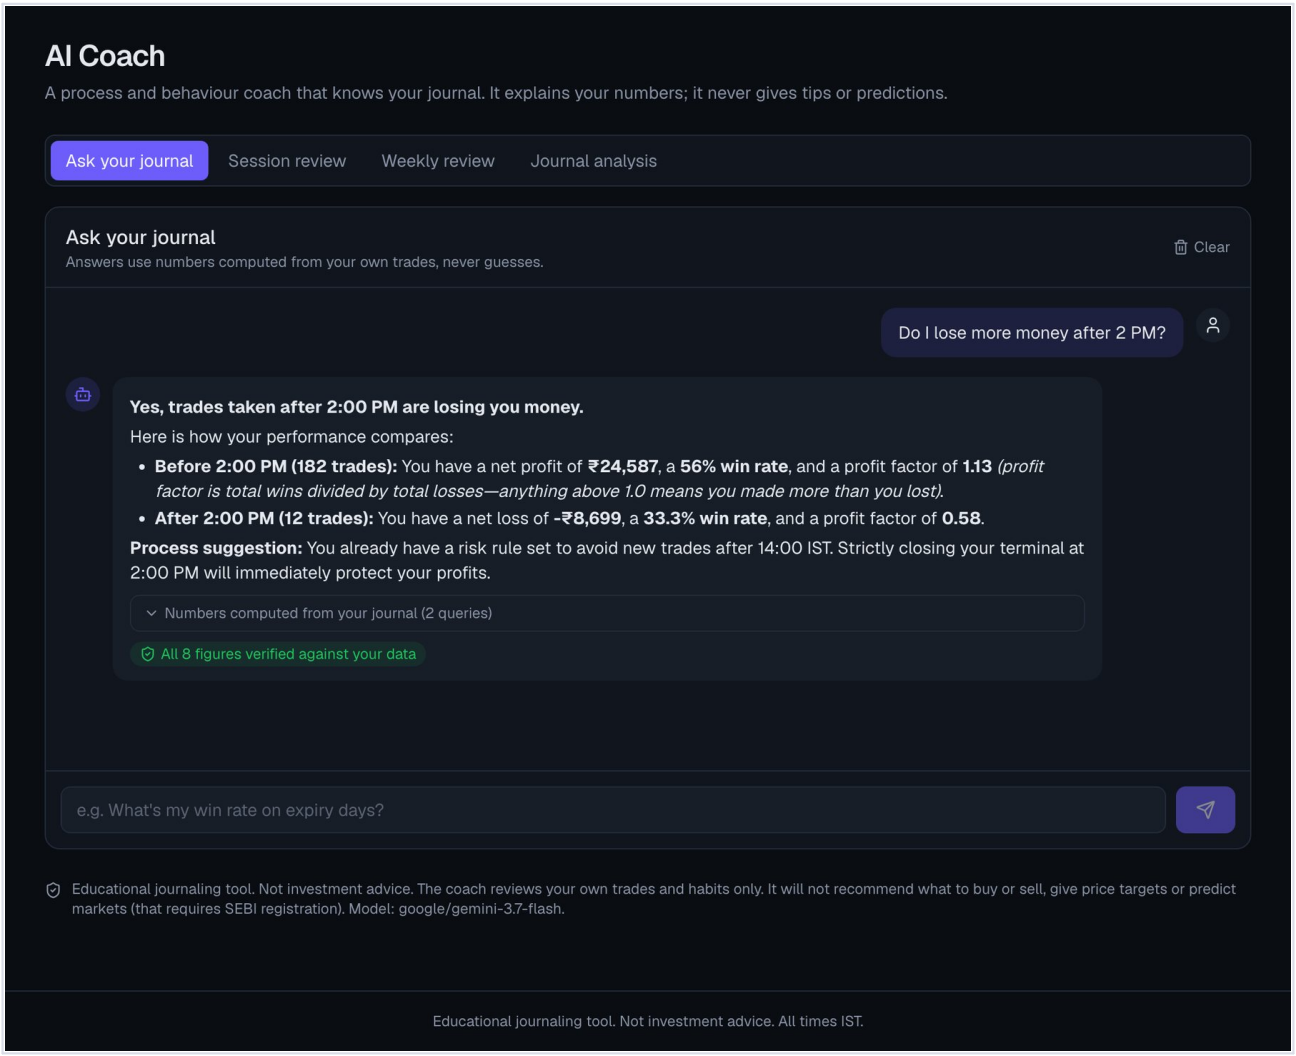

Auto-tag review

The rule-based auto-tagger flags revenge trades, overtrading, losers held too long and entries after the cut-off, each with the exact reason. The trader accepts or dismisses. This works without any AI key.

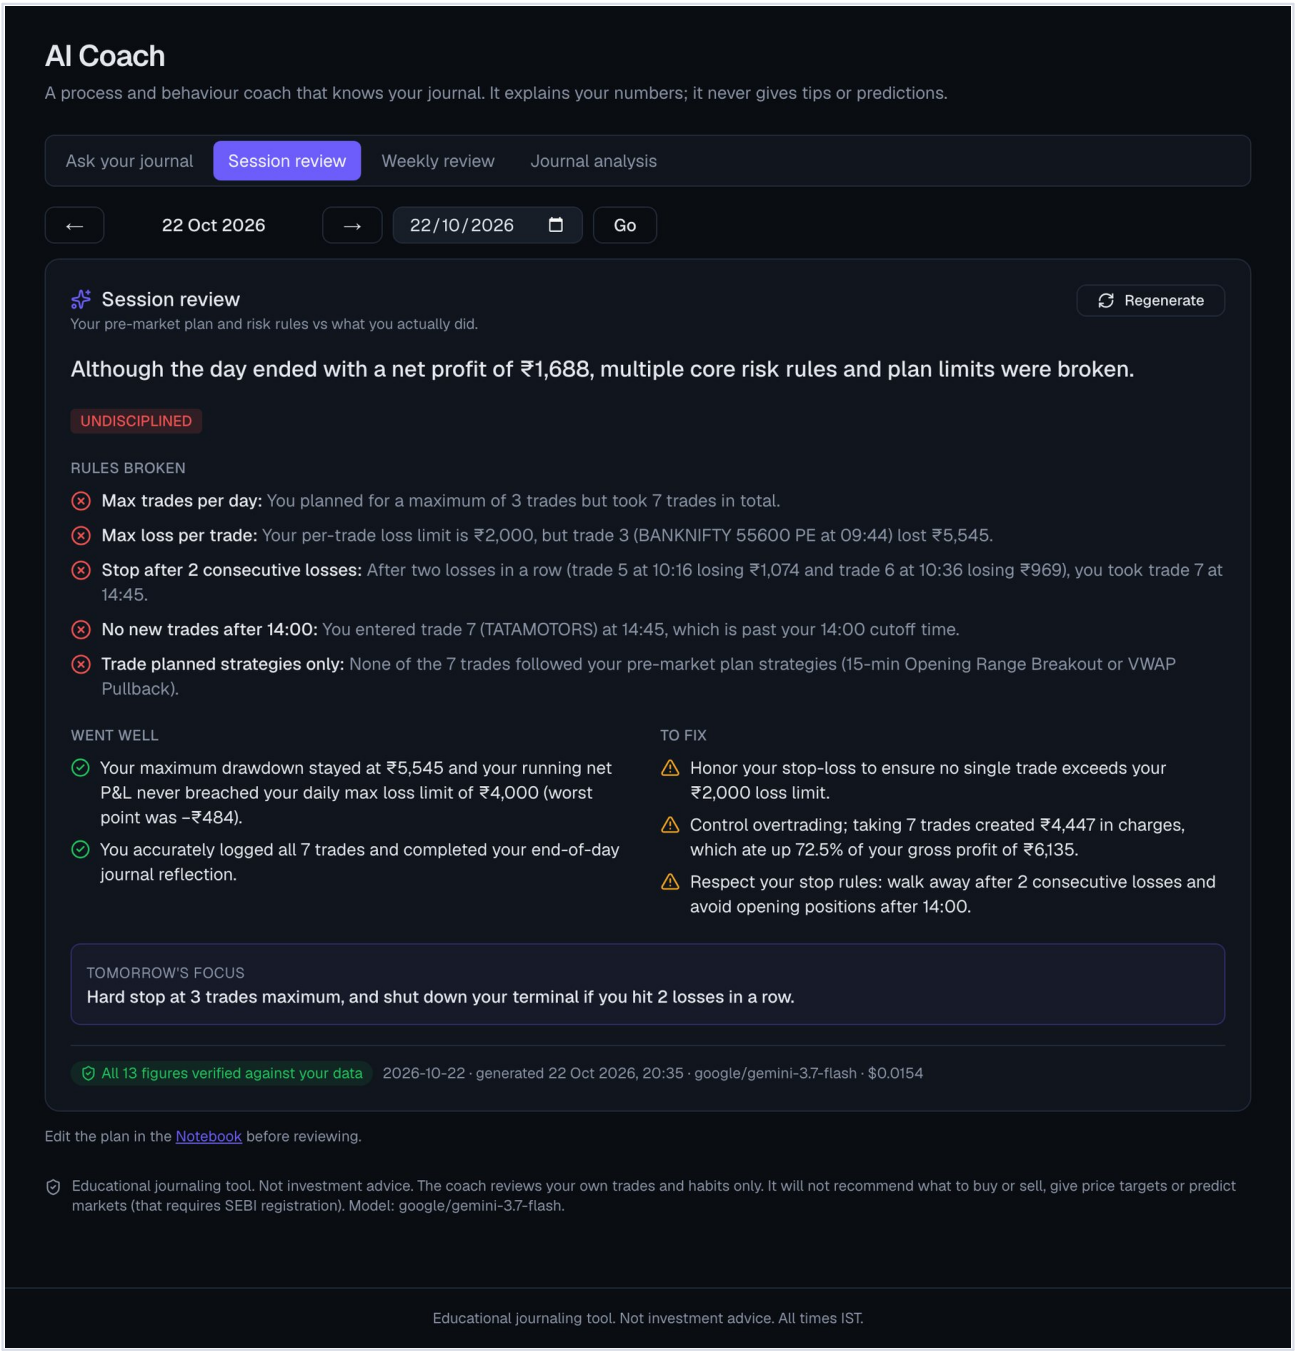

AI Coach: ask your journal

Questions are answered from numbers computed in code through a tool, never guessed. Each answer shows the queries behind it and a "figures verified" check.

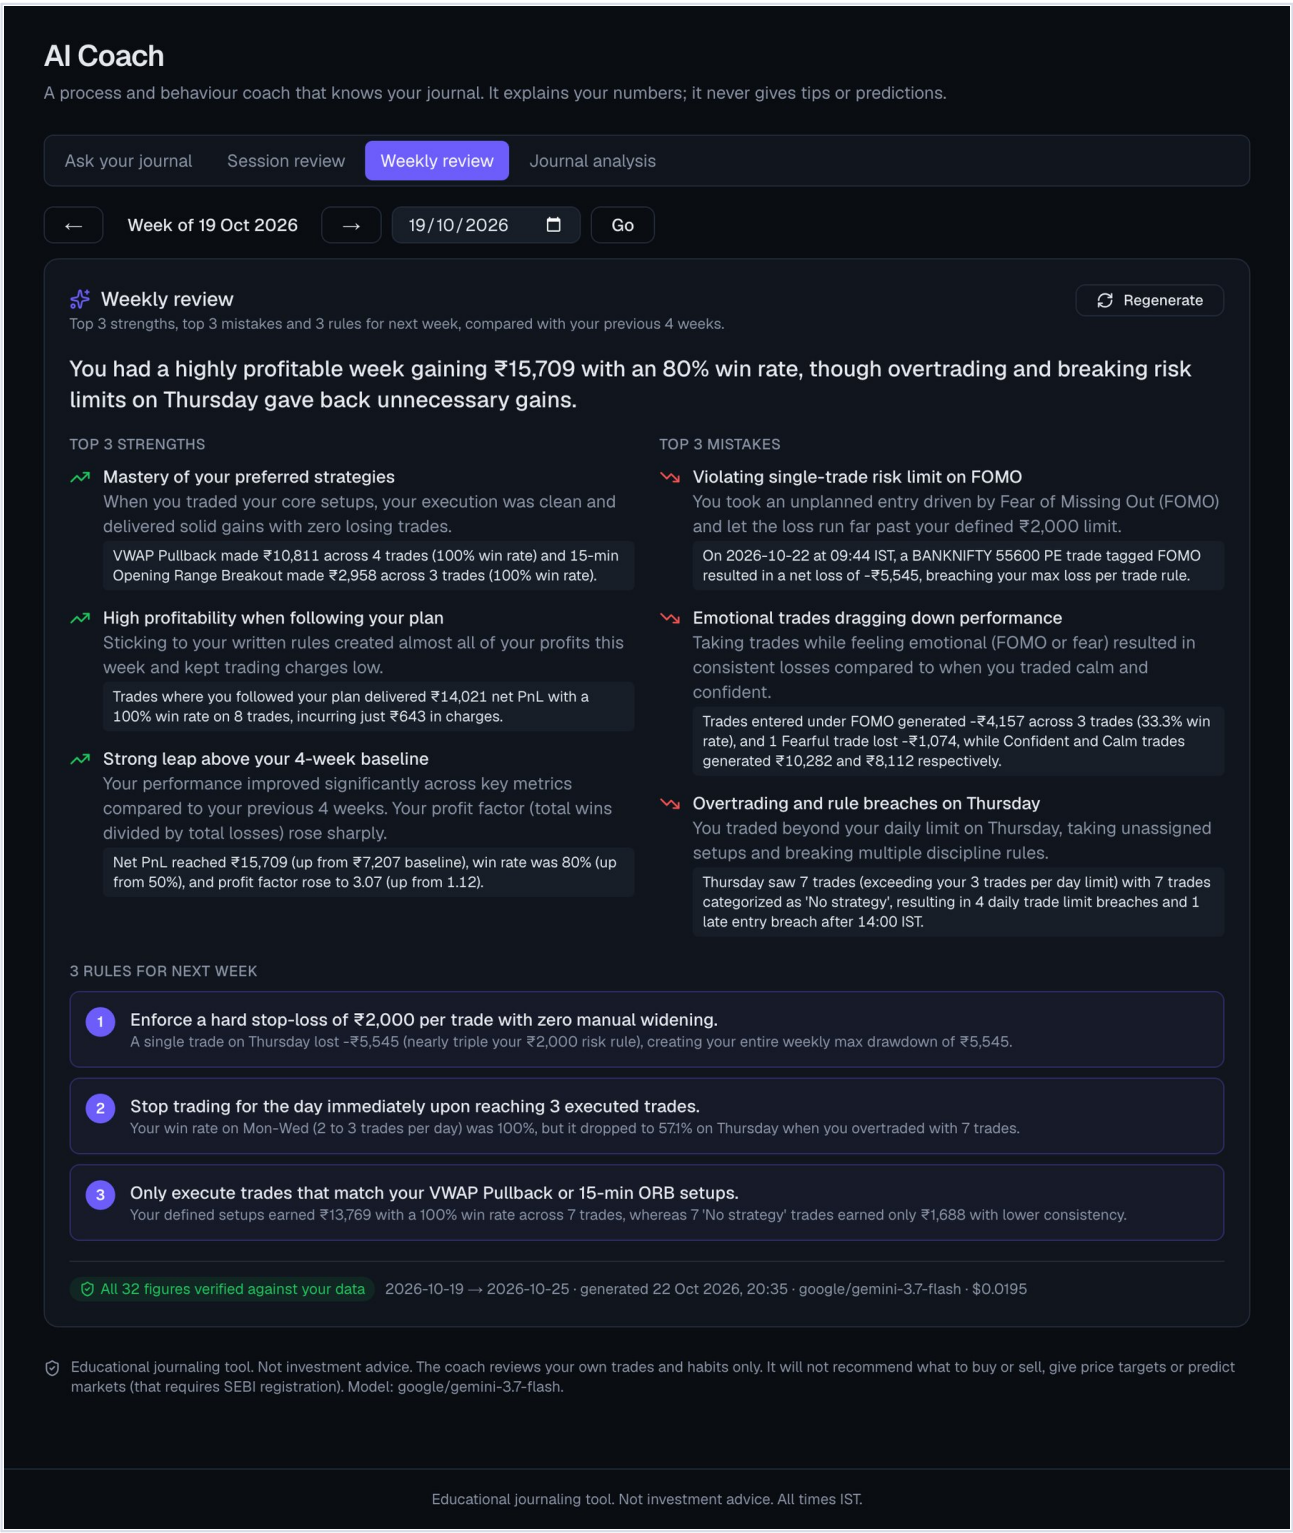

AI Coach: session review

Compares this day's pre-market plan and risk rules with what actually happened: rules broken, what went well, what to fix and tomorrow's focus.

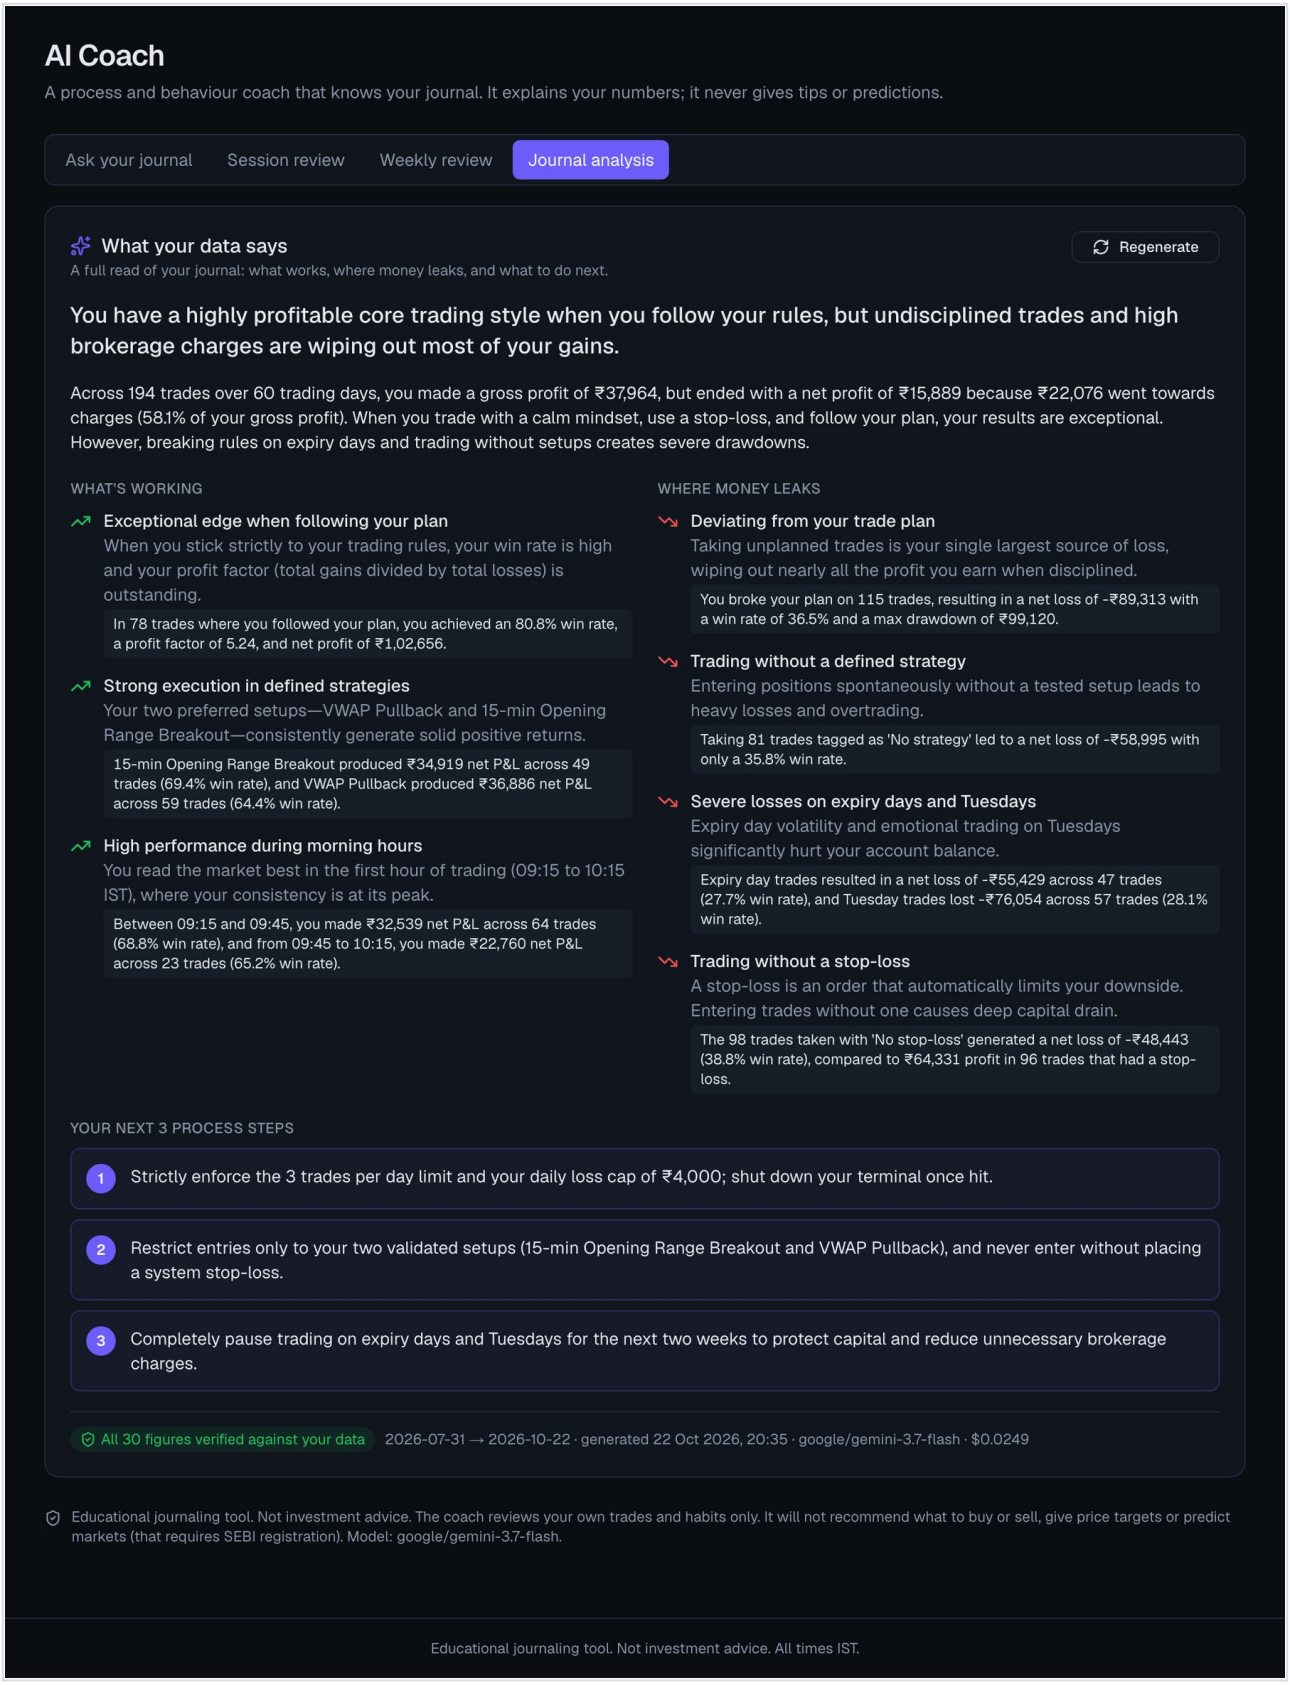

AI Coach: weekly review

Top three strengths, top three mistakes and three rules for next week, compared with the previous four weeks, each backed by figures from the journal.

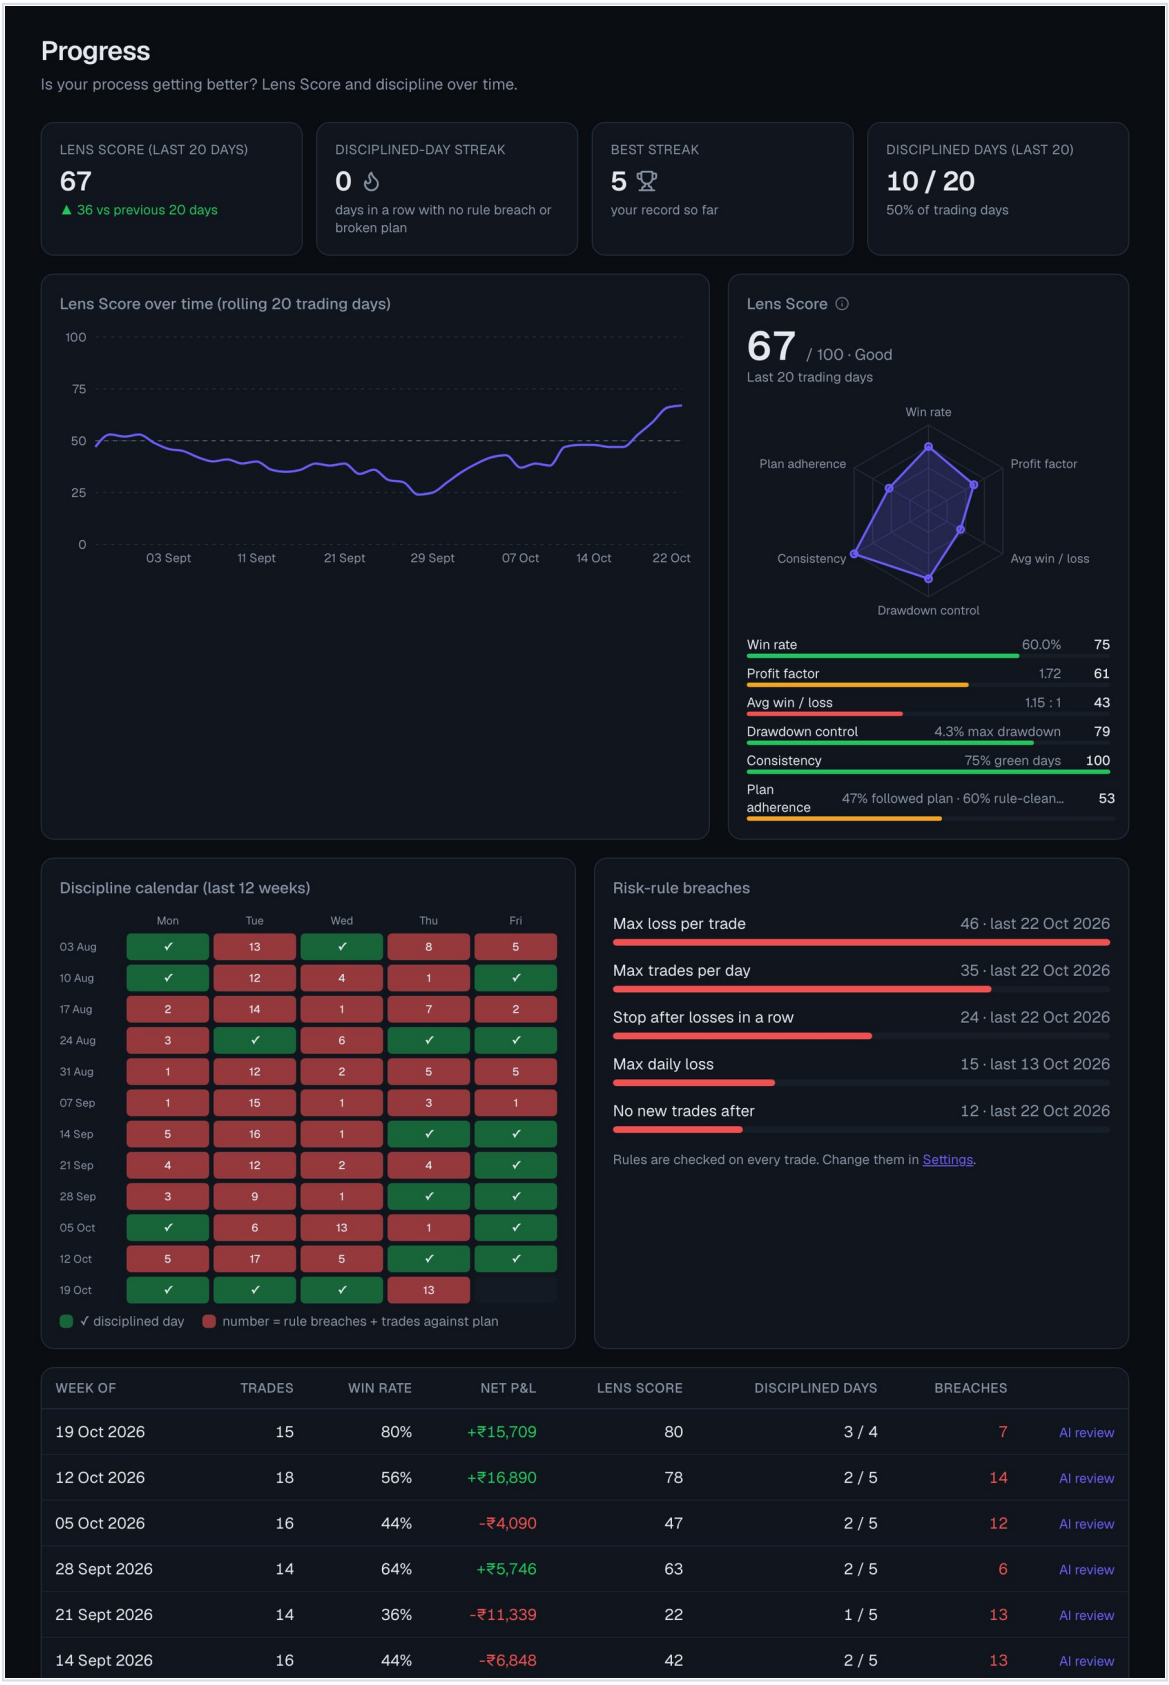

AI Coach: journal analysis

A full read of the journal: what is working, where money leaks and the next three process steps.

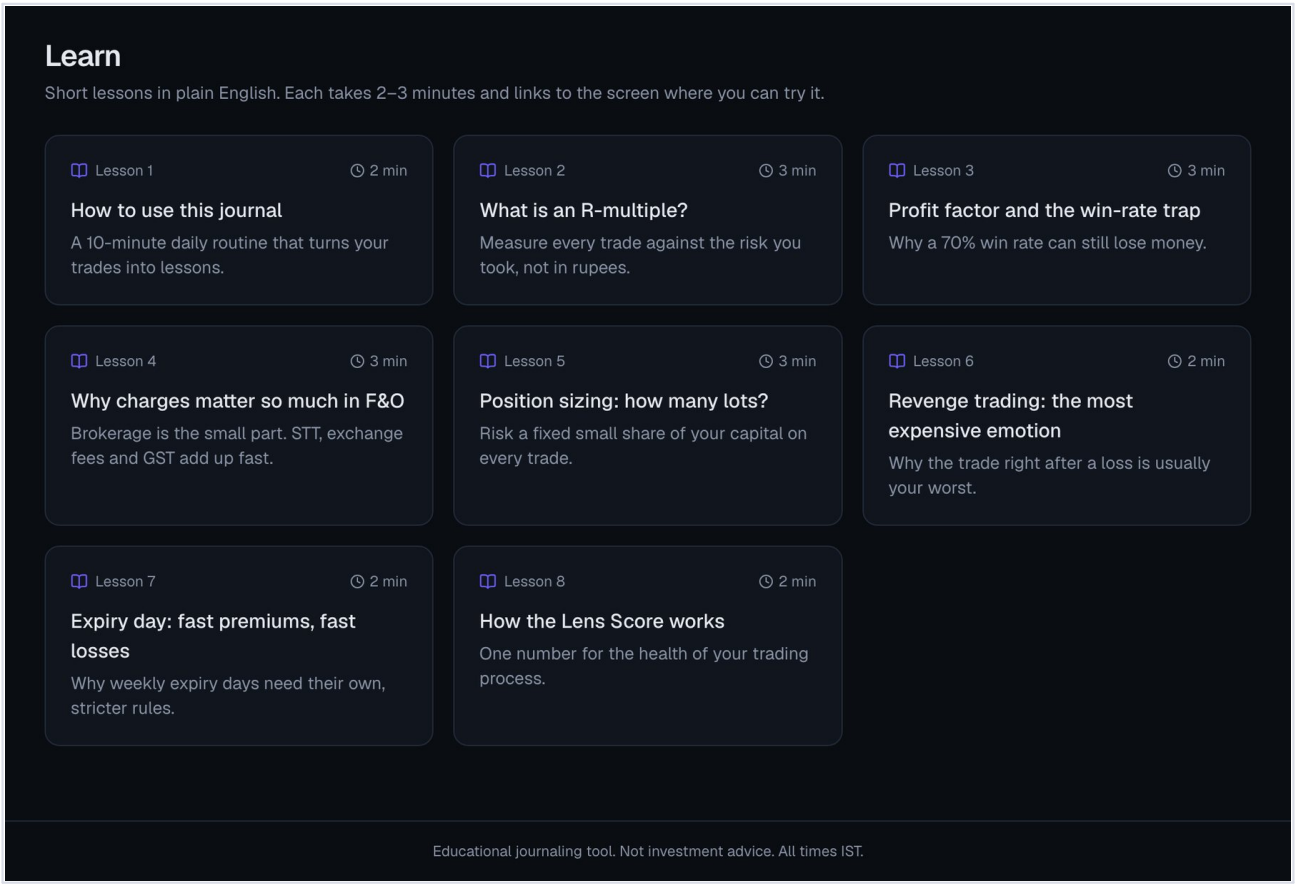

Progress

Is the process getting better? Rolling Lens Score, disciplined-day streaks, a 12-week discipline calendar, breaches by rule and a weekly table linking to each weekly review.

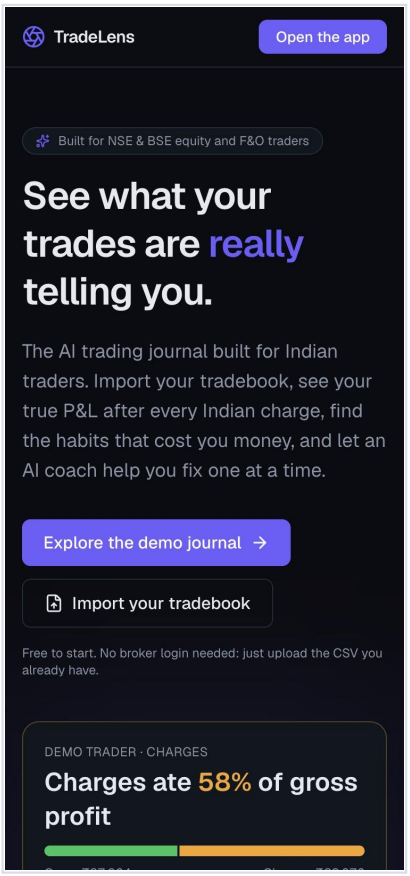

Learn

Eight short lessons (R-multiple, profit factor, why charges matter in F&O, position sizing, revenge trading and more), linked from the dashboard tooltips.

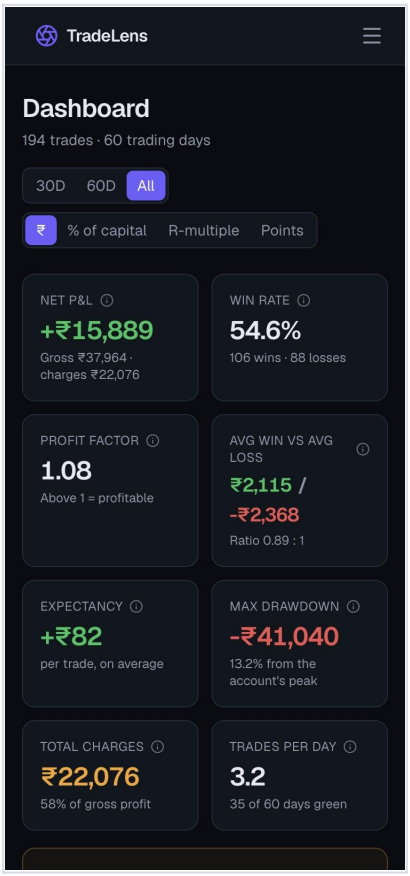

On a phone

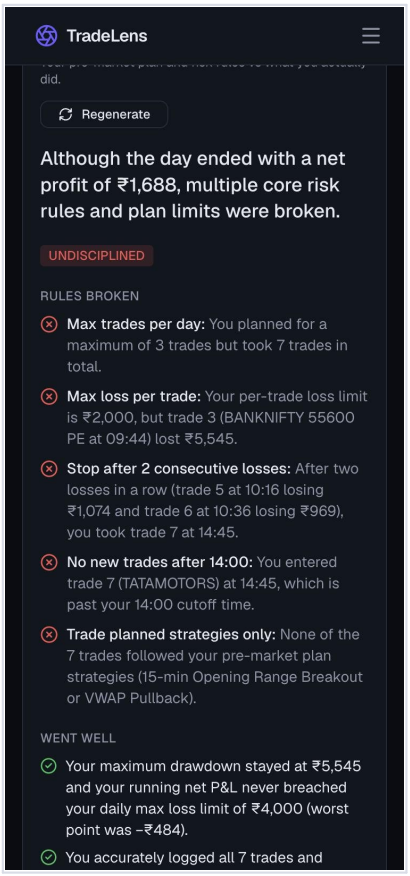

The whole app is responsive and was checked at 375 px: no page scrolls sideways, tables scroll inside their own cards, and the menu collapses.
